FOREWORD

This volume continues the valuable series undertaken by the Historical Records Survey of transcripts of the archives of colonial towns of New York. These minutes of Newtown, as with previous materials in this series, have been reproduced with minute care.

Interspersed with records of allotments, deeds, wills, etc., are minutes of town meetings and votes, apparently without any pretense of system. On December 17, 1681 certain officials, together with the overseers, were "deputed to Exsamine Concerning the townes Rites and business so that ther be an orderly Records Keept" (p. 207). But the orderliness and accuracy of these records were apparently open to question, for some six years later Johannes Loreson, who had declared on several occasions "that newtown Records was fales theier by to make a disturbenc and to obtaien to my seluef a devis . . . of lands," publicly admitted that he was "hartily Sorey for it" and that he knew "no Such things by the sd records" (p. 567).

One of the most significant aspects of these minutes is the entry of allotments of land to settlers. Generally these informal entries are the only record of title at that time, and serve as the original source of title to modern holders. In the modern decision of Beers v. Hotchkiss, 256 New York 41 (1931), Judge Cardozo, in an opinion distinguished for its deep insight into colonial legal history and town practises, upheld the validity of this informal allotment procedure in use in the colonial towns of Long Island.

Allotments were often made by colonial towns and villages to induce laborers and artificers to settle. The inhabitants of Newtown were careful, it would seem, to ensure not only the supply of such labor but the rate of wages such grantees might demand. In 1679 the town meeting voted Francis Combs eight or ten acres of land "with a proviser that he doth work f[or] the townes peopell as Cheape as wee Can have of other workmen" (p. 141).

Entries of this character should abundantly reward the study of these records by social historians and students of public administration as well as genealogists and specialists in local history.

EDITOR'S NOTE

After the Town Minutes of Newtown, vol. 2, 1653-1734 was mimeographed and assembled for binding, it became apparent that the volume would be too unwieldy for convenient handling if bound in one cover. The book has therefore been separated at its mathematical center and bound in two parts.

Part 1 contains the prefatory material and pages 1-314 of the transcriptions.

Part 2 contains pages 315-567 of the transcriptions plus the indexes (pages 568-628) to both parts. The pagination runs consecutively (however, see Preface, p. ix) through both parts.

PREFACE

The Town Minutes of Newtown, Vol. 2, 1653-1734 is the third publication of the New York City Historical Records Survey in the field of records transcription, being a companion volume to Town Minutes of Newtown, Vol. 1, 1656-1688 and to the Minutes of the Town Courts of Newtown, 1656-1690. These volumes represent a line-by-line transcription of the three earliest libers of original Newtown records, numbered 286A, 286B, and 287, respectively, located in bin 25 of the vault in Room 517, Comptroller's Office, Municipal Building, Manhattan.

On the back of an old liquor license form, bound as a fly-leaf between the 10 by 14 inch boards of the original of the present volume, the following inscription appears:

> Remains of Ancient Newtown > Part of the Record Book Presented by > the Leverich Family-containing the > Scriptural notes and reading of the Revd
> William Leverich-about the year.
> as these leaves had come > apart from the Old book
> I thought it better to bind > them together under cover > by themselves.
>
> William O'Gorman
> Town Clerk November 5, 1881

Apparently these Town Minutes, now in two volumes as we have transcribed them, were bound as one volume at least as late as 1852, when James Riker wrote in his Annals of Newtown:

> It is a volume of six to seven hundred pages, about one hundred of which are occupied by a running commentary on the first 14 books of the Old Testament, written by his [William Leverich's] hand, but in part copied from the commentary of the learned Piscator. The book seems to have > been originally intended by Mr. Leverich as an index to the subjects he should meet with in the course of his study, the pages being numbered and headed with a great variety of subjects, written in Latin and arranged alphabetically. But the design was not carried out, and after the decease of Mr. Leverich, the book was given to the town for public records.

Rev. William Leverich, the pastor of Newtown, and a high-ranking divine in his day, died in the early part of 1677. The "running commentary" referred to consists of such subjects as Justificatio (now on p. 7 of the present volume), Inequalitas (p. 54), Indulgentia (p. 55), Indigestio (p. 56), Incubus succubus (p. 57). Since the blank volume was turned upside down and re-numbered for the Newtown records, Mr. Leverich's pagination runs in reverse order, and the "commentary" of the present volume runs alphabetically backwards from J to A.

Mr. O'Gorman, town clerk during the 1800's, has written across the first page of Liber 286A: "See Book 286B for the older Book. But Bound in with the Older book. I call the Two of them Number 1." When the Historical Records Survey transcribed this "Older book," pages 142 and 143 were found to be missing. Following a clue provided by Mr. Herbert F. Ricard, Librarian of the Long Island Collection, Queens Borough Public Library, the Survey has been able to locate the missing pages, on the original sheet, now faded and corroded, in the Manuscript Room of the New York Public Library, in Doc. File #15 of the Riker Papers, in a folder marked "Newtown, Long Island, Memoria, Vol. 3." Facsimiles of both sides of this sheet, transcriptions of which should have been included as pages 142 and 143 in our Town Minutes of Newtown, vol. 1, immediately follow this Preface.

It is not known how this sheet came into Mr. Riker's possession. The other records of Newtown were placed in the custody of the City Comptroller after the consolidation of the Greater City in 1898. The Historical Records Survey is negotiating for a return of the sheet to its proper place in the original volume.

The index which occupies the first five pages of vol. 2 of the Town Minutes does not refer to the records which follow it. The first page of the index carries the inscription:

> This seems to be Record Book #2 (Two)
> Dates from year 1695 to about 1700
> W. O'Gorman
> Town Clerk
> 1882

The arrangement of the original material is haphazard and evidently the work of several writers. Since the volume in which the recordations were later made did not come into the hands of the town officials until after 1677, and since the earliest known provision "that there be an orderly record kept" was voted December 17, 1681, it seems probable that all prior unbound records were entered into the book in whatever order they happened to be filed. Moreover, it was voted on February 2, 1685, that the Records Book be unbound, in order to remove "the writing of m^{r} Leverich," and then be bound again. This, too, may partly account for the lack of order among the entries. A chronological index has been provided for the present volume to facilitate research of records in sequence of dates.

As this published volume of transcriptions was made line-by-line and page-for-page with the original, it contains many pages which are irregular. Eccentricities of spelling and arrangement have been carefully observed in the transcribing. Material crossed out, corrected, or inserted has been faithfully reproduced with the deletion, correction, or insertion marks. (See, for instance, pp. 105, 137, 162, 178). Where stamp or wax seals appeared in the original, these have been indicated in the transcription either by a drawing of the original or by a notation. (See pp. 162, 320). The variously-formed marks used in lieu of signatures have been reproduced as exactly as a stylus could do so. (See p. 162). Portions of words or sentences which have become illegible through corrosion or otherwise have been indicated by dots. As nearly as a typed transcription will allow, the appearance of each page of the original has been faithfully reproduced.

The original pagination has been followed, even though it is not always strictly consecutive. Where the page number on the original appears above the text, we have reproduced it thus: -6-; where it appears in the middle of the first line of the text, we have also placed it there, in parentheses. Occasionally, we have had to continue the transcription of a page on a continuation sheet. Such a sheet carries the same page number, marked "(continued)," and always faces the same way, as the page it continues. Sometimes, in the original, consecutive pages carry identical page numbers. We have differentiated these by letter, e.g.: 417a, 417b, 417c. There are four instances in the original where a series of page numbers is repeated. We have designated the second of each series by an asterisk placed next to each repeated page number, thus: 32, 33, *32, *33.

For convenience in finding pages referred to in the index, the vagaries of pagination are here given in consecutive order: 1-33, *32, *33, 34-193, *192, *193, 194, 195, *194, *195, 196-362, (363 skipped,) 364-382, *363-*382, 383-416, 417a, b, c, 418, 419a, b, c, 420a, b, 421, 422a, b, 423a, b, 424-426, 427a, b, 428a, b, 429, 430a, b, 431-567.

Besides the chronological index, which shows on what pages all the records of a given month of a given year may be found, there is an index of grantors, an index of grantees, and a general index. There is wide variation in the spelling of proper names throughout the records, and the same individual may variously be referred to by his Christian name or merely such titles as Mr., Cap't., Jr., etc. An attempt has been made to gather all references to a given individual under one index heading, although it has not always been possible to do this with certainty. (See, for instance, the Richard, Cap't., and Mr. Betts's). Wherever it has been possible to consolidate such entries under one name, see references from all surname variants have been made. In some instances, such see references will appear rather far-fetched, as: "Joorise, see Yorson," "Yoris, see Yorson," but "Youress, see Joris." The reference was determined in such cases, not merely by similarity of the names, but by examination of the textual evidence of the documents.

The subject matter indexed by names of people falls under a recurrent series of subheads which in themselves reveal the kind of material with which these documents deal. A dummy index under a representative name would read somewhat as follows:

Hardwick, Jonathan (Jon, Johnithin) bequest of birth of bond of cattle marks registered by certification as justice of the peace by claim quitted by

It will be seen from this outline that the records fall into several categories: wills, deeds, indentures, bills of sale, mortgages, bonds, affidavits, survey records, land grants, promissory notes, purchasers meetings, vital records, and, since elections were held by vote of the town meetings, town meetings. The subject index, under the key-heads in capital letters, embraces not only these types of instruments, but every category of subject-matter, thoroughly cross-indexed, in which the reader may conceivably be interested. Under TOWN, for instance, will be found a breakdown of all affairs pertaining to Newtown as a town; these will also be found indexed in greater detail under their own key-heads. Thus, under TOWN—committees, all pages relative to committees are grouped together; while under COMMITTEES the subject matter is broken down according to the purpose served by each.

The Frontispiece, a facsimile of an original survey map of the period covered by these records, is interesting from two standpoints: (1) as an illustration of what the scores of survey records in this volume mean in terms of survey maps, and (2) as an illumination of the recurrent inter-town boundary disputes, of which that between Newtown and Bushwick lasted for over a centry and was not finally settled until the Provincial Assembly intervened in 1767. (See Town Minutes of Newtown, vol. 1, 1656-1688, pp. x, xv, 161, 173; and in the present volume, pp. 451, 563.)

The reader is referred to the first volume of the Town Minutes of Newtown for: an historical sketch of Newtown; maps of the original Dutch grants, of Newtown Village in 1760, and of the present communities of the area; abstracts of the original Dutch grants; a list of the town officers from 1652 to 1690; and a bibliography of sources relating to the history of Newtown.

Transcription of the present volume is the work of George Griffiths and Vincent Quigley, working under the supervision of Martin Feinberg. The index was prepared by Harry Beckoff under instructions from Charles E. Baker, Editor-in-Chief of the Historical Records Survey, who was responsible for the preparation of all historical, illustrative, and appended material in both volumes.

With the growing interest, both here and abroad, in preserving through transcription or microfilm publications important historical documents which might otherwise suffer destruction, public agencies and private foundations are expanding their programs for such work as these transcriptions. From the inception of the Historical Records Survey in January 1936 under the national direction of Dr. Luther H. Evans, one of the project's nation-wide objectives has been the transcription of irreplaceable early records whose relative inaccessibility threatens to become absolute through decay or destruction.

Other objectives of this project, designed to foster preservation and facilitate access to the nation's wealth of historical documents, are being continued under Dr. Evans' successor, Mr. Sargent B. Child, These objectives include:· inventories of all state, county, and municipal archives; inventories of all church archives together with denominational histories and notes on Church organization and records systems; guides to manuscript depositories and calendars of their major collections; and checklists of American imprints prior to 1877, showing in what libraries each is available.

For the purpose of this survey, New York City was designated as a forty-ninth state, under the successive directorships of Mrs. Crete hutchinson, Howard E. Colgan, George J. Miller, and, since October 1939, Charles C. Fisher. The New York City project ceased to exist as Federal Project #1 on September 1, 1939, from which time it has operated under the sponsorship of Fiorello H. LaGuardia, Mayor of the City of New York.

Since the Historical Records Survey is executing the most ambitious program in the field of records transcription ever undertaken, it welcomes suggestions which may help to channelize its efforts toward publications in which our richest heritage of historical sources may be preserved forever. Suggestions or inquiries should be addressed to Major Irving V.A. Huie, Works Projects Administrator, 70 Columbus Avenue, New York City.

EDITOR'S NOTE

After the Town Minutes of Newtown, vol. 2, 1653-1734 was mimeographed and assembled for binding, it became apparent that the volume would be too unwieldy for convenient handling if bound in one cover. The book has therefore been separated at its mathematical center and bound in two parts.

Part 1 contains the prefatory material and pages 1-314 of the transcriptions.

Part 2 contains pages 315-567 of the transcriptions plus the indexes (pages 568-628) to both parts. The pagination runs consecutively (however, see Preface, p. ix) through both parts.
